INFORMATION POLICY

As a part of the annual membership drive the HLCA collects detailed contact information about its members. The level detail of this information is greater than what is available in the public domain through the land registry information available to the public in the Dysart office. The HLCA is very diligent about protecting the information collected. It is important to understand what happens to this information. As you can imagine the HLCA uses the information for its own use primarily for communicating with the membership either by email and or mail throughout the year. We DO NOT share the information with anyone for any purposes except in case we have received your permission or in the case of an emergency or urgent situation where the property owner needs to be contacted because of a safety and property issue. In the case where someone is looking for contact information for a neighbour, we will contact that neighbour and ask them to reach out to the person requesting the information. When registering for membership with the HLCA it is assumed you agree with this information policy, if you do not agree with how your information will be shared please say DO NOT AGREE with the HLCA INFORMATION POLICY on the registration form, and your information will not be shared as described above.
